

Hello,

I am the Practice Manager for GenderGP. We provide global Health and Wellbeing Services to transgender people and those who support them.

There seems to be confusion among GPs and hospital consultants as to whether or not they are covered to provide care to transgender patients of all ages

Medical care consists of advice, support, medical intervention with hormone blockers and gender-affirming hormones, and referrals for specialist care or surgery.

In the absence of NICE guidance clinicians can refer to Guidance such as that from the WPATH or Endocrine Society.

Some clarification that can provide reassurance to doctors who support transgender patients would be very valuable.

Many thanks,
